Information is power, store them digitally. You will need them tomorrow!

Vital Signs speaks our health status. Why ignore them?

Health is wealth. Constant tracking of vital signs helps to determine the health status.

For an effective and quick treatment during Emergency Medical Service (EMS), accurate vital signs becomes very important and lifesaving. Vital signs analysis helps to understand the effectiveness of treatment as well.

Technology has played a very key role in bringing positive changes to our daily life. In today's world most of the daily chores are mobile app and portal driven from ordering food, vegetables, medicines, apparel, fashion items etc.

Different functions of Healthcare has taken mileage with the technology revolutions. Finding the nearest doctor/clinic and fixing appointments are made easy. Chatting with your doctor, sharing your feedback and recommending the doctor is a single click process. Doctors can now advertise their services online. Lab reports are accessible over the mobile apps.

Tejasco's products in the healthcare vertical, MedinfoTab and e-Arogya have been revolutionary solutions helping the users to digitize their workflow and bring in operational efficiency for a proactive health caring.

Tejasco in its effort to bring more healthcare solutions, introduced "TrackYourVitals.com" which helps the consumer to store their individual, family vitals and diagnostics report on a mobile application. The vitals and reports can then be shared with his/her family physician through this portal rather than physically visiting the doctor for sharing these details.

TrackYourVitals.com also provides the doctors to store the patients ailment and medication details along with their vitals and other critical statistics like his/her allergies, family and social habits, surgical history and so on.

The mobile application also integrates with Pharmacy and Diagnostic labs wherein the doctor can prescribe medication or medical tests of the patient directly to these centers with a virtual copy to the patient.

The patient's details pertaining to his ailment, medication, lab reports all stored on Internet Cloud, will help him with boundary-less sharing of the data with anyone, anywhere and anytime.
